AFSC has always believed in the power of dialogue to transform—relationships, communities, structures and systems.

Join us for a light lunch and to hear Kerri Kennedy, Associate General Secretary for International Programs at the American Friends Service Committee, speak on International Shared Security.

Kerri has 18 years of experience managing international development and emergency response programs in areas of conflict and post conflict environments. She previously served as the Executive Director for Women's Campaign International, a global nonprofit that works to increase the number of women leaders and supports them to lead in politics, peacebuilding, and the private sector.
